Calgary Concern
Has Alternative
Council Offers

Would Sell City 20,000,000
Kilowatt Hours For $112,500

The Calgary Power company has offered to supply Edmonton with 20,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy for a price of $112,500 for the entire year. It was revealed at the first meeting of the civic power committee, Monday afternoon. This party was held in the presence of the city council, and the committee is considering Edmonton's power situation and the possibility of continuing the interlocking agreement with the Calgary Power company which expires next winter.

FURTHER FACTS
Mayor J. A. Clarke and Commissioner David Mitchell were instructed to prepare a further report on power conditions, in conjunction with Alex Ritchie, superintendent of the power plant.

Proposals submitted by the power company were based on two alternatives: (1) The company acting in its capacity of emergency capacity to the Edmonton plant, and (2) acting as a stand-by plant, and supplying the city with power ranging between 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 kilowatt hours per year.

The power firm, in a communication read to the committee, stated that as far as the first proposal was concerned any arrangement would be profitable to the city and would be unprofitable to the company.

CONTRACT RATE
Favoring the second proposal, that of acting as a stand-by plant, the local power house and also supplying the city with emergency energy offered to sell Edmonton up to 20,000 kilowatt hours at a price of $112,500 for the year. But this price would be a flat contract with Edmonton having to pay this sum even when less than the 20,000,000 hours were used.

Mr. Ritchie informed the committee that last year the city had supplied the city with 20,000,000 kilowatt hours.

EXCESS ENERGY
Ald. J. W. Findlay maintained that the company's communication implied that the city would be able to get this power only in the event of the power plant having excess energy available.

Calgary Power would always be in a position, winter or summer, to supply Edmonton with energy, Ald. E. East declared.

But the terms of the submission to the Calgary Power Company would be under no obligation to use the surplus.

Sup. Ritchie explained that under the interlocking agreement the Edmonton plant generated power for the city only for water pumping purposes and that power was purchased from the company.

MAN ATTACKS
CITY WOMAN

A married woman, living in the west end, was attacked by an unknown man as she walked west along Jasper avenue near 111 street shortly after 9:30 p.m. Monday night. A police officer on foot and officers in cars searched the district, but failed to pick up any clues.

The woman's husband reported by telephone to headquarters that his wife had noticed a man following her along Jasper avenue for about two blocks. At the 111 street intersection the man caught up with her, clutched her arm and started to drag her off.

She screamed and tore herself loose from the grasp of the man, who is described as short, wearing a black coat with the collar turned up, a grey cap and speaking with an English accent.

Revision Court
Hears 72 More
Tax Complaints

No reductions were allowed in 72 cases heard Monday afternoon by the civic court of revision sitting at 1815 bond and building assessments in the central chambers of the city hall. Mayor J. A. Clarke and Commissioner David Mitchell presided over the court, confirmed the assessments set in all but five cases, which were referred to the board of appeals for a rehearing.

Monday afternoon's hearing was devoted mainly to appeals on small home property, both land and building. The court was told that another three appeals had been withdrawn, bringing the number of cancelled appeals to approximately 100.

Hearings were continued at 10 a.m. Tuesday. On Thursday commissioners plan to hear South Side cases.

C. Bruce Smith
At Young Tories

Establishing of the Bank of Canada was the first step taken by the Conservative government in the wake of the overthrow of the present administration by the Young Conservatives, led by S. Bruce Smith, assistant minister of finance, at the Conservative head-quarters Monday evening.

He stated the country had been buffeted by economic storms as a result of the financial policy which would even out the economic course and make it more certain that the people may face the future with assurance of steady reward for their hard and honest labor.

It will regulate the flow of money in the country and the measure of need of the nation, he said.

INTEREST RATE TO HIGH FOR FARMERS NOW

Cannot Pay 8 Per Cent.
and Survive Declares
Commissioner

Farmers in western Canada cannot continue to pay interest rates of eight per cent. on loans and survive under present conditions, asserted Commissioner H. B. MacLeod, of the Board of Review, under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, during discussion at Edmonton Tuesday.

The case was that of a Wetaskiwin district farmer who sought relief from pressing debts. His liabilities amounted to $8,000, his assets to $800. The applicant is a settler on a section of land of which 300 acres are under cultivation.

REDUCTION
He asked that interest accrued and future interest be reduced, that the principal be reduced 25 per cent., and that unsecured creditors be paid a 50 per cent. reduction in the amounts owing them. He also asked that payments be spread over a period of five years with a reasonable annual payment to liquidate debts to secured creditors.

MORTGAGE INCREASED
He proposed that the unsecured debts be put out of the picture in two years, half the amount in each year, and that unsecured debts be paid a 50 per cent. reduction in the amounts owing them. He also asked that payments be spread over a period of five years with a reasonable annual payment to liquidate debts to secured creditors.

MAYOR REVIEWS TAX PROBLEMS

Lauding those citizens who had withdrawn their appeals against assessment this year, Mayor J. A. Clarke reviewed the tax problems facing the city. He stated that such action showed the citizens' desire to co-operate with the city in the payment of the mill rate for the financial year. The city's weekly meeting was held in the afternoon.

The mayor, taking as his topic the mill rate, said that the rate had been made in assessments, and that the rate had been increased.

THE INQUIRING
REPORTER
Knowing that one of the most unpopular men in town today is Old Man Weather, and that a "state of alarm" exists due to the low temperature prevailing in this section of the country during the last month, the Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter, pulled his gun, and asked the mayor to pull a few interviews from the citizenry on the subject.

What is the weather? He said, frank, unbiased and unprejudiced to mention honest opinion of this here weather?

Here's what they say: FRANK WILLIAMS, book-keeper for the city, said that the weather is the worst he has ever known. He said that the weather is the worst he has ever known.

Humidity Near Danger Line In Gas Chimneys

Watch your chimneys. The Dominion Meteorological Bureau reports 100 per cent humidity in Edmonton on the past five days, and in this climate that spells trouble.

Chimneys are so severely taxed to observe their own chimneys and if found to be in the condition described they should take steps to have the fire removed.

Leaving it "set up" upon the fire to danger, as block-up of the chimney would cause the gas to escape, and in this case, the gas would be in the chimney.

Gas company officials have been making a check-up of the chimneys and have found that many are in a dangerous condition. It is necessary to prevent accidents.

Albert Rutherford, of Vancouver, Pleads Guilty to Charge

One year at hard labor was drawn by Albert Rutherford when he pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday morning to being in possession of apparatus for counterfeiting Canadian currency.

He had a criminal record which counted against him with the judge.

"I did not intend making the bad money for circulation," he told the court, and went on to explain that the "phony" quarters and half dollars were for sale as "key ring and watch fobs."

When a pair of detective hands led by Sergeant Bert Peterson caught him at a down town rooming house Sunday night, Rutherford was found with the apparatus for counterfeiting Canadian currency.

The "falls" of the coin impressed on the metal, which was found in the rooming house, were found to be the same as the "falls" of the coin impressed on the metal.

With Rutherford's arrest and conviction, the police believe they have stopped the "phony" quarters and half dollars supply of bad coinage circulating in the city.

GOALKEEPER NOW TELLS AFTER SCORING FIGURES

Barefoot Batter Puts On Scissors but Yet Loses

Shoelace Joe Malveris Beaten, as Usual, in Bout with London

Looking over the weekly statistics of the National Hockey League scoring race today, you see Charlie Conacher away up there on top of the pack, even six points above his brilliant running mate, Toronto Maple Leafs, Harvey Jackson. . . He has come along like an Equinox in the stretch during the last couple of weeks and gained himself a grip on the scoring honors that will be hard to shake—even though the finish to the season is still a long way off. . . Thinking it over, it must give a coach and a team a lot of confidence to see a performer like Conacher skate out to his position on the wing. . . He's 200 pounds of man and has a plenty of wing. . . In fact, it's a lot for most defencemen and when a 200-pounder is fast enough for a wing position and possesses the scoring ability of Conacher, well, it must make his boss feel pretty good whenever he looks over at right wing.

There's a familiar figure in the stretch today, an old friend but in enemy regalia. . . It's none other than Johnny Sheppard, the "Jaw" of the old Equinox. . . Sheppard was a prime favorite with hockey fans at the arena in the days when he wore the Stars and white stripes of the Eks, before he went back with the break-up of the Western Canada circuit. . . He's back here to be the Seattle Seahawks, top-dogs of this Northwestern league by quite a margin. . . He's sure to be one of the main centers of interest in the Seahawks and Eskimos go into action tonight.

If you're looking around for threats for the provincial senior amateur hockey championship this year, don't overlook this team of Seattle Indians. . . Over the weekend, Lucas beat Edmonton Athletic Club juniors, 5-0, and then, last night, they defeated a couple of players who are now seniors by a healthy score of 8-2. . . That would seem to indicate they are really dangerous contenders for the title again this spring.

Indians have a number of former Edmonton amateur stars on their roster in the form of Ray Miller, Lindsay Carver and Billy Maher, the latter two being well-known professionals. . . Along with some other fine talents they have, that should form quite a hockey squad.

Business men of the city together with officials interested in amateur sport, will get together Wednesday night for the purpose of making arrangements to stage the Dominion amateur boxing and wrestling championships here this spring. . . It is quite an undertaking but officials believe they can be held successfully here.

POPULAR SONG JUST FITTING RANGER ROOKS

Starr and Kerr Proving They're Right Cure For Gothamites

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—A popular song now storming Broadway—"Your the Norm"—has made its hit at a very appropriate time for Coach Lester Patrick and his New York Rangers proteges to adapt the melody's theme, in singing the praise of the two newcomers to the club.

All the way down from the silver-haired sage of Drummondville, Que. to Trainer Westover, the Rangers without hesitation attribute their fine showing in recent weeks with the National Hockey League campaign to the playing performance shown by the former Montreal Maroons.

"There seems little doubt in my mind that the success of Starr and Kerr was the only thing that saved us from complete elimination insofar as playoff prospects are concerned," said Lester Patrick.

THEY'RE THE TOPS

"Starr has rejuvenated the defence and his presence on the back-line has inspired the other defencemen to greater effort."

Over the weekend, realizing they had one of the finest youngsters in the netminding business guarding the cage, they played their old-time form. Yes, those two are the tops.

BRUNO HOPES TO TELL OWN STORY TODAY

Kidnap - Murder - Suspect
May Open Fight to Escape Chair

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY
FLEMINGTON, N.J., Jan. 22.—The possibility that today might be Bruno Richard Hauptmann's last day in the electric chair for the murder of the Lindbergh child packed the Hunterdon county court house long before trial time.

Hauptmann, pale and thin-lipped, was scheduled to be the first witness in his own behalf and the spectators' lucky enough to get in were curious in their hopes that the state would rest early enough today to permit the alien ex-convict to tell his own story.

Indications, however, were that the audience was due for a disappointment. For informed quarters considered it unlikely that Hauptmann would be so lucky.

The kidnap ladder was brought in and rested against the wall near the jury box. A large easel-like wood rack was set up next to it.

Lewis J. Bornmann, state police detective, was the first witness called and sworn.

A theory general produced a chief and the witness said he found it at the Lindbergh estate near where the ladder was picked up early in the morning after the kidnapping, March 5, 1932.

"We offer the chair in evidence," witness announced.

CHIEF ADMITTED
Associate Defence Counsel Fred A. Pope objected to its acceptance because it had not been linked with the defendant or with the crime of kidnapping.

But Justice Trenchard admitted it. He directed the jury to take attention to the ladder upright which had been cut through for purposes of wood analysis and investigation.

The detective said he himself had been the upright through the state police headquarters.

No detective, there were three sections of the ladder are the same as when it was found, with exception of the numbers and of the cuts made in the investigation.

The same witness then offered the ladder in evidence. Previous attempts had been unsuccessful.

VANCOUVER SLOSHES IN SLUSHY SEA

17 Inches Snow, 24 Hours
Steady Rain Too Much
Moisture

VANCOUVER, Jan. 22.—Vancouver became a city of gas-canarade Monday as its folks looked through a sea of slush. Perhaps it was the absurd picture everybody presented as they tried to step across flooded streets, gingerly at first and then plunging in without restraint after the first few shakings.

Girls and women were carried across intersections on the backs of men they had never seen before. Every one had a cheery word for every one else as all joined in one grand ducking from an open sky above and a flooded street beneath.

Sometimes men tried to carry women and find themselves carried and carried making one grand slip.
